Real Estate Safety Matters

Every year real estate professionals are threatened, robbed or assaulted while performing routine duties like showing a property or conducting an open house. This course will discuss what precautions to take when meeting with customers and clients during Listing and Buyer Agreement presentations. How to identify potential risk areas and situations to avoid, thereby reducing the exposure to becoming a crime victim during the course of normal business activity. The information provided will increase awareness and provide another level of security protocol to help keep the real estate professional and their client safe.
